TO THE PATRONAGE OF
A liberal and enlightened Community
IS SUBMITTED
THE PROSPECTUS
OF
A New Daily Paper,
TO BE PUBLISHED UNDER THE TITLE OF THE OBSERVER,
AND
Daily Repository of useful Information.

IT will doubtless be deemed a hazardous undertaking to present to the public eye proposals for a new Gazette, when so many are already in possession of the public patronage.

News-papers so much more generally diffused throughout America than perhaps any other portion of the globe, may become either engines of mischief or the implements of usefulness—they disseminate good, or scatter poison, among thousands; and although it may be presumptuous in the Editor of that now proposed to expect that its utility will be great, yet he may be admitted to declare, that it shall not willingly be made the means of doing evil

His endeavors will be applied to render The Observer in some degree conducive to the attainment of knowledge as well as to the communication of news—to enlighten the understanding—to improve the morals—to beget, or to confirm, a reverence for the sacred principles of Christianity.

For this purpose it is intended—
To furnish the most recent foreign and domestic intelligence;
To give useful Prices Current at home and abroad, and other commercial information;
To select from literary productions such portions as may gratify taste and induce improvement;
To unfold and enforce sound and just views of government:
To aid the great interests of piety and morality.
To present occasionally—
Improvements in the arts and sciences—in agriculture and domestic economy;
Proceedings of the General and State Legislatures;
Reports of the Heads of Departments, and of interesting cases adjudged in the several courts of the United States, &c.
Reviews of foreign and domestic literature;
Anecdotes and characters of distinguished personages;
Statistical tables;
Meteorological observations;
Appointments;
Marriages, Births, Deaths.

With these proposals the subscriber diffidently submits himself to the public. He is well aware of the importance and magnitude of the undertaking Solicitous for the fate of his native land, and viewing with anxious fears and hopes the success of a government created by the joint exertions of wisdom and virtue, and conducted with sound policy and genuine patriotism, he feels himself sincerely interested in promoting such measures and principles as he believes essential to public happiness and national prosperity.

CONDITIONS.

I. The Observer shall be printed with a neat type, and on paper of equal size and quality with the present Philadelphia daily papers.

II. It shall be published every evening, and regularly sent to the houses of the city subscribers—To others it will be forwarded according to their respective instructions.

III. The price will be Eight Dollars per annum to those who reside in the city—and Nine Dollars to all others. The additional dollar is to defray the expence of enclosing and directing their papers

IV. One half of the price to be paid at the time of subscribing, and the other half at the expiration of twelve months from the publication of the first number. The succeeding payments to be half yearly.

V. Advertisements that do not exceed in length the breadth of the column will be 67 cents for the first, and 33 cents for every additional insertion. Those of greater length will be charged in the same proportion.

The Year 1800 is arrived!

UNION TAVERN,

In George Town, upon the Potomak, is
FOR SALE,
Upon the premises, on the first Monday in May next.

THIS Tavern was built by the subscription of a number of gentlemen as a necessary and useful improvement to the town—It cost 16000 dollars in the year 1796 when materials and workmanship were much cheaper than at this time. The terms of subscription were that it should be sold to the highest bidder on the day above mentioned.

It is a handsome, substantial brick building, of three stories, fronting sixty feet on the most public street in the town, and running back sixty three feet upon a wide and convenient street—The house is admirably calculated for a tavern. It contains upon the first floor four large rooms, one of them 30 by 20 feet and another 23 by 20, besides a large bar and dressing room, upon the second floor is an elegant assembly room, 60 by 30 feet, and three convenient lodging rooms. Upon the third floor are ten excellent lodging rooms—the garrat admits of a division of ten more. There is also a good kitchen and commodious cellars sufficient for such a house. Passages and cross passages intersect the house in such a manner as to make each room private.

There are stables sufficient for the accommodation of fifty horses, with convenient sheds for carriages—attached to the building are three lots of 60 feet by 120 each, which front on three streets, and in the back yard and not 20 yards from the kitchen is a copious and never failing spring of most excellent running water.

The nature of improvements and their convenience to the city of Washington must render this property a most desirable acquisition to any person who may wish to carry on a tavern upon an extensive scale. The immediate removal of the government of the United States must receive to it full and complete custom.

The terms of sale are, one third in cash—one third in 120 days and the other third in 240 days, to be secured by approved notes negotiable at the Bank of Columbia or at either of the Banks in Baltimore, possession to be given on the day of sale and a perfect title made clear, of all incumbrances, on the last payment being made.

LONDON, December 20.

Sir SIDNEY SMITH to BUONAPARTE.

When Sir Sidney Smith was in the Temple, he wrote with a pencil upon the walls of his prison, the following address. Four prisoners, who were after Sir Sidney's departure, confined in the very room he occupied, desired the gaoler, the moment they entered it, to remark that the writing on the wall was anterior to their arrival.

"The Temple, Oct. 26, 1798.

"The wheel of fortune makes strange revolutions.—but to deserve the name of revolution it is necessary that the turn of the wheel should be complete. You are now as high as you can be; well! I do not envy your happiness, for I have a greater happiness, still, that of being as low in the career of ambition as one can descend; so let the capricious dame turn her wheel ever so little, I must ascend; by the same rule you must descend.

"I do not make this remark to disgust you; but to convey to you the same consolation I feel when you shall have arrived at the same point I have—Yes, where I now am, you will be; you will inhabit this very prison! why not as well as myself? I did not think that I should more than you do now. In a war of party, it is a crime, in the eyes of one's opponets, to discharge one's duty well; you do now, and of course you are sharpening the daggers of your enemies against you.

"It is true, that it is needless to prove to you, that you will come here, because you must be here to read these lines: you will, without doubt, have this apartment, because the keeper is an honest man, and will certainly give you the best, as he has given me."

MILITARY OPERATIONS.

REVIEW OF THE CAMPAIGN IN SWITZERLAND.

It was upon the frontiers of Switzerland that the danger was the most pressing: and that it was the most easy to send reinforcements, which arriving successively by different routes, were directed at the same time to the centre and wings of Massena's army, while the Archduke could only receive the Russian divisions by Schaffhausen, in the rear of his right, and all at once, at a fixed and known epoch. This augmentation of force, would of course be very considerable, and composed of good troops, particularly infantry; but it was their first essay in a mountain war, in which they were to be immediately employed; they could not be compared to those corps of Austrian troops, mixed with mountaineers, Tyrolese and Swiss, who had defended the Vorarberg, reconquered the Grisons and St. Gothard, and the greater part of the small cantons. Gen. Suwarrow, having undertaken and covering at once the siege of Coni and Tortona, which must be followed by the taking of Genoa, and complete the career of his conquest in Italy, could not, till General Kray's corps had joined him, restore to the Archduke the army of General Bellegarde, who had besides suffered much: and the feeble diversion which he had directed General Haddick to make on the side of the Valais, was not sufficient to enable the Archduke to flatter himself with re-establishing the balance between his force and that of Massena, if the latter could act before the arrival of the Russians. Massena in fact attacked, and gained a great advantage; he fulfilled his part of the operations agreed upon, and entirely removed the left wing of the Austrian army. Joubert and Moreau, on the contrary, found Suwarrow still superior in number, reinforced by General Kray, whom the speedy surrender of Mantua had permitted to join the grand army. They were defeated.

Although General Massena had for some time received orders from the new directors to resume the offensive immediately, he resisted the indiscreet eagerness of his government, incurred their anger, and received orders to give up the command of the army. Having calculated the degree of speed which the Russian troops could use, he preferred the wise resolution of maturing his plan, and of striking a blow which would be so much the surer by its being delayed, because each day increased his numerical force without the Archduke having been able to prevent him nor procure the same advantage himself. It appears also, that the want of resources, and the difficulty of subsistence in a country exhausted by two great armies, and not productive, had retarded his reinforcements, and even disgusted part of the army.

It was on the 17th August, that the first column of the Russian army of twenty six thousand men, under General Rimski Korsakow, were to arrive at Schaffhausen; it was on the 11th that Massena commenced his movement: he had re-inforced his right wing, commanded by General Lecourbe, as much as he could, without too much uncovering his centre, opposite Zurich, and weakening his left, stretching to the Rhine. As he proposed to detach that right wing entirely from the centre, to render his marches, manœuvres, and attacks on the whole mass of the great Alps, from the Valais to the Lake of Zurich, entirely independent, he endeavored to fix, on the opposite side, the attention of the Archduke, and succeeded in concealing from him, by very warm attacks on the centre of his position, the reinforcements which he had sent General Lecourbe, and prevented him from putting in practice the same manœuvre on his left, and from supporting Generals Jellachich and Simschen. The latter occupied, on the Upper Reuss, and in the space between St. Gothard and Lake Zurich, only the principal points of a chain of two extensive positions; these different corps, which altogether did not exceed 20,000 men, could neither form sufficient reserves to check the columns which attempted to cut off their communications, not sustain themselves by their own strength, notwithstanding the advantages of the ground in isolated posts, or in camps, which might be turned and taken in the rear, by a superior force.

On the 12th and 13th of August General Massena encouraged some affairs of advanced posts in the environs of Baden. On the 14th at day break, favored by a thick fog, he pushed one column beyond the Limat. It carried first one of the grand guards, penetrated into the camp of the cavalry, where a regiment of dragoons, and some squadron of hussars had to sustain a very warm attack in which they suffered considerable loss. This surprise spread alarm at Zurich—The French had pushed to the outlets of the city, and had made their way to the rear of some points of the line; attacked in their turn by superior forces, and taken in flank by two batteries they defended themselves most obstinately; much blood was shed, and unfortunately, the Swiss in the two armies met and charged with fury; at length Gen. Massena withdrew his columns to the left of the Limat, and on the 15th, the centre of each army was in its old position.

During this attack, all the columns on the right, whose total force on this side and on the other of the Lake of Lucerne was, including in it the division of Thureau in the Valais, about 30,000 men, broken up at once, and proceeded against the posts occupied by the imperialists.

The French division, commanded by general Chabran, passed the Sihl, surprised or drove back the Austrian posts on the western side of Lake Zurich, ascended the heights of Richterswyl, Etzel and Schindeleggi, turned and attacked with advantage a pretty considerable Austrian corps, which occupied the strong position between Lachen and Einsielded (notre dame des hermites).—This intermediate corps, between the Austrian army and the left wing, which, occupying the course of the Reuss, covered the cantons of Schwitz and Uri, was almost all either destroyed, dispersed, or taken. It was under the orders of general Jellachich; the latter, obliged to abandon his posts on Lake Zurich, could not even keep the post of Rapperschwyl; he left open the canton of Glarus, and fell back on the centre of the army; the French pushing their advanced guards even in sight of Pfeffikon, threatened the position of Zurich. This first success checked the communication of the rest of the Archduke's left wing with the centre of his army, and favored the movements, and attacks of general Lecourbe upon Schwitz, and the course of the Reuse from Altdorff to Mount St. Gothard—the developement of this front of attack was from 18 to 20 common leagues (11 German miles.)

To follow with interest the brilliant and singular expedition of general Lecourbe upon the Reuse, it is necessary to observe attentively the mass of the high Alps, the constant march of nature in the formation of those masses, and ever uniform in her most imperceptible labors: every where do the laws of gravitation disclose and explain her secrets. The waters, falling from the higher parts, where the reservoirs are as it were suspended, produce every where similar effects, and according to their volume, their mass, and their current, furrow more or less deeply the surface of the globe, divide territories and separate mountains.

Thus, in the great Alps, the torrents, escaping from beneath snow and ice, fall in different directions into vallies so narrow and so deeply excavated by the rapid fall and ravages of their waters, that the declivities of those enchained mountains render them inaccessible in every other direction than that of the bed of the torrents which have forced their passage.—It is necessary then to ascend to their very source, to the common level, to be able to penetrate from one valley into another, to choose between them, to command those issues, to open or shut at will those barriers which the caprice of the waters has raised between those masses broken and separated in the explosions of the globe. It is true, that the very caprice may have opened in these great declivities some lateral issues, by which we may communicate from one great valley to another, by following the course of brooks, and seizing their point of contract, or their level on opposite sides; but it may be conceived, that these communications must be rare, and more replete with difficulties and obstacles, than the high principal vallies.

The late decree of the French consulate withdrawing all further supplies for the maintenance of their prisoners, was extremely sudden and unexpected; as only a few days before M. Perigeaux, the banker, remitted to Mr. Hammersley 60,000l. on this account, with a promise that the payments should be regularly made in future. Capt. Swinburne also brought over a bill of exchange for 11001. for the same service.

A story is current in the higher circles, that Buonaparte has written a letter to the Grand Signior, to assure him that it never was his intention to settle in Egypt, but that the French went thither to punish the Mamelukes. It is said that he wishes to withdraw the army, and to make peace with the Porte.

It is a Russian, and not a British force, that has for some time past blockaded the port of Genoa.

It is reported that the Ex-Director Barthelemy has applied to the Consulate for leave to return to France. should he be refused that permission, it is said, he will go to America.

Subscribers will have it at their option, either to subscribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the present time, or to those only of the Old Congress prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are lost in darkness and obscurity, owing to a carelessness, in the succeeding generation, to preserve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in those rude ages, being called off from their domestic concerns, to engage in wars and conquest. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been transmitted to our days? Time, that destroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almost inestimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their assistance in transmitting to posterity the labours of their ancestors—founders of the Columbian nation.

 The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will shew the support it has already acquired:

"That having, in our respective avocations, frequent occasions to recur to the Journals of Congress, we experience inconvenience by the scarcity of them: That we understand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hath obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed prosecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, respectfully solicit, as the publication is necessary to be disseminated among public bodies, that Congress will, in their wisdom render him such additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, so that your Memorialists may be enabled to purchase copies of that record for themselves.

Eighty Dollars Reward.

RAN-AWAY from the Subscriber, at Newtown, Chester Ferry, Queen Anne's county, state of Maryland, the following negroes, viz. a woman named Nanny, went away on the 23d January, 1799, and took with her a Mulatto female child, about two years old, named Arianna. Nanny is a dark yellow negro, about five feet four or five inches high, remarkably handsome for a negro. Her cloathing unknown as she took a variety of good cloaths with her—she went off with a negro fellow, named Peter, and calls himself Peter Simpson, he is the property of a certain William Bowers of Talbot county, state as above, who has advertised one hundred dollars reward for him. Peter is a stout well made yellow fellow, about 6 feet one inch high, is a tolerable good Carpenter. Nanny passes for his wife, but her real husband is named Bob, who belongs to her master. It is probable they are in the neighbourhood of Salem in the Jersies, as they were there in October last, and by information, Peter had built himself an house to live in, between Rum Bridge and Gold Town; it is likely they may have changed their names and may have passes, as Peter can write a middling hand; it is probable Nanny has another child, as it was thought she was in a pregnant state when she went away.

The noted Ferry-man Charles, who calls himself Charles Rodney; he went off on the 18th of February last, he is a dark mulatto, about five feet eight or nine inches high, about forty years old, stoops in his shoulders when he walks, a scar on his head very perceivable—he took with him a small bay mare about 4 or 5 years years old, her mane trimmed and bob tail'd; his cloathing unknown, as he carried off a variety of cloaths; it is probable he has changed his name, as he is a very artful, sensible fellow, he can read tolerably well; it is likely he may hire himself to drive a wrggon, being well acquainted with that business, driving for the army during the war; he also perhaps may have a pass.

The above reward will be given for the aforesaid two negroes, viz. Nanny and Charles, if taken out of the state, or twenty dollars for Nanny and child, if taken in this state, & 20 do. Charles if taken in this state and secured in jail, so as I may get them again. If brought home all reasonable charges shall be paid by me.

WATER-OFFICE.

Centre Square, Febenary 5, 1800.

IN compliance with the instructions of the Committee for watering the city, and with my own inclinations, every possible admittance and information has been given to those citizens who have visited the Works during their progress. The Engines are now arrived, and are immediately to be put up, and it is hoped that it will be thought reasonable and just, both to the Public, and to the Contractor for the Engines, that the workmen should not be interrupted. As a very few months will fully gratify the curiosity of the citizens, by shewing them the Engines in full operation, a temporary exclusion of all visitors from the Engine houses cannot appear improper.

John Gordon, is an elegant two story brick house, with four rooms on a floor, and a passage sixteen feet wide.

The other two are commodious and conveniently fitted, with good and suitable out houses, at one of which John Murphy, Esq. (now of Westmoreland county) lived several years; on this farm there is a good grist mill, with water sufficient to turn any number of stones; also convenient store houses and granaries on a public road, well situated for a country store. The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA,
MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 17.

Extract of a letter from captain Truxton to the Secretary of the Navy, dated Port Royal Harbour, Jamaica, 12th of February, 1800.

"I arrived here the 8th inst. in company with the Insurgente, capt. Murray, with whom I fell in, the day after I wrote you by lieut. Shaw.

"Finding it impossible to get a main-mast here, I shall use every dispatch in my power to put the Constellation into a condition to proceed to the United States. I have met a kind and friendly reception from Admiral Parker; all the British post captains here have been on board the Constellation, and from seeing our situation, express every sentiment that could be wished by those true Americans who love their country and its honour better than any thing else.

"I have heard nothing of the French 54 gun ship since the action. It is hard to conjecture whether she sunk, or whether she has got into St. Thomas's or Curacoa. If she is still above water, she must be irreparable in the West-Indies. Her loss of men must have been prodigious in an action of five hours, with 600 men on board: My fire was directed principally at her hull.

"Several of my officers have told me that they thought they saw her go down—certain it is, that the ship and her lights disappeared of a sudden, and we ought to have seen her at day light. But I was so employed myself, in preserving our fore-mast and mizen-mast, after the main mast went over the side, that I attended to nothing else."

Extract of a letter from capt Baker, of the Delaware sloop of war, to the Secretary of the Navy, dated Curacoa, 8th Feb. 1800.

"On the 6th inst, appeared off this harbour, a French ship of 52 guns, called La Vengeance, and from what I can learn, she left Guadaloupe last Sunday, bound to France, with a great deal of money, &c. on board; and also two French generals, and a number of other officers and passengers: but on Monday evening she was overtaken by an American or British frigate (but generally believed to be the former) and from her shattered condition, she must have had a very severe action, La Vengeance having left standing but her bowsprit, fore and mizen-mast; her fore and mizen shrouds, ratlings, &c. being cut up so, that you could scarce see any of them for stoppers. In short, there appears no place that has escaped a shot: her starboard side has been much hulled, and it is said, she had 140 killed and wounded, and when she parted she had 8 feet water in the hold. They say the other vessel was in a similar situation, and in fact, that neither of them had the command of their ships. The French ship is now hauled up in the harbour, and will require some months to refit, not having masts, cordage, &c. for that purpose.

P. S. This moment arrived a schooner from St. Thomas's with an American gentleman on board. They were spoke by a British frigate this morning at 8 o'clock, who informed them that yesterday he spoke Commodore Truxton going down to Jamaica, who informed them that last Monday night he got along side of a French 50 gun ship, and after a long and severe action, had the misfortune to lose his main-mast, fore and mizen top mast; the ship became unmanageable, at which time the French ship made her escape, severely wounded.

Capt. Truxton said, that if he could have kept along side 15 minutes longer, he would have taken her. This agrees with the French report, for they say they were in such a situation, they could not have defended the ship much longer.

NEW YORK, March 15.

It is with great pleasure we announce some further particulars relative to the late gallant enterprize of Captain Truxton, which far surpasses the brilliancy of his former exploit, and which will place his name high on the annals of American fame and naval prowess.

Last Thursday night arrived the brig Rebecca, Captain Harding, in 25 days from Curracoa; by him and by private letters we learn, that the vessel with which the Constellation fought, was Le Vengeur, a French ship of 50 guns, and carrying 54, commanded by Captain Perot,—she was bound from Guadaloupe to France, with a valuable cargo of coffee and sugar, and two million of dollars with the Governor of Guadaloupe and family. This explains the circumstance of her endeavouring to avoid an action. When Le Vengeur entered Curracoa here fore and mizen masts were very much shattered, her main mast gone entirely, and her hull, rigging and spars in a most forlorn condition: in fact she appeared a perfect wreck, her pumps continually going, and 7 or 8 feet water in her hold. Captain Perot generously bore testimony to the gallantry of our brave Truxton; though it was not till some days after he had arrived, that it was known that he was his antagonist; and Captain Perot frankly acknowledged, that if the action had been continued 10 or 15 minutes longer he would have been obliged to strike.

Le Vengeur had on board 50 or 60 American prisoners. The crew consisting of 600 men, of which 170 were during the action killed and wounded. The Governor is said to have animated the crew by his own example, and with 5 or 6 passengers to have been wounded. A variety of other circumstances are related, but we cannot answer for their correctness—On this brilliant exploit we make but one observation. Truxton deserves from Congress a public vote of thanks.

BALTIMORE, March 14.

The following answer was made to commodore Truxton, responsive to his address to his ship's crew after his engagement of the 1st of February with the French 54 gun ship, as already published in this paper, and peculiarly characterizes the patriotism and bravery of Americans.

ANSWER

To COMMODORE TRUXTON.

SIR,

The officers of every description, the seamen, marines, and every other belonging to the United S ship Constellation, cannot suppress their lively feelings at the kind tribute which you have paid to their respective meritorious exertions.

They with one voice proclaim that under such a commander, whose example would have made even cowardice brave, they must have been less than men, not to have acted with the same stimulus of valor which they exhibited in the late engagement with the French national ship of fifty four guns.

They have, with sincere regret, to lament the loss of some of their faithful comrades who fell in the lap of victory.

The circumstances of losing the prize is a secondary consideration, which could only devolve pecuniary advantages to the survivors, the glory and honor of the combat being diffused to the whole.

In behalf of ourselves and the rest of the ship's company.

A decree had passed the government at Batavia, directing that for the future, American vessels should take an equal proportion of sugar, pepper and coffee; and the Samuel Smith was said to be the first vessel that had sailed under this regulation.

The schooner Philip, capt. Reynolds, 20 days from Port Republican, arrived yesterday, and saluted the town at Gay street dock.

Arrived brig Samuel, David Wilson, master, 40 days from Laguira. On her inward bound passage, 8th February, in lat. 20, long. 68, recaptured the schr. Liberty, capt. Crowell, from Norfolk bound to Jamaica, had been 10 days in possession of the French. Captain W. took out of her 3 Frenchmen and has brought them with him: left on board 2 Frenchmen and put on board 4 of his crew, and ordered her to this port.

The Insurgent fell in with the Constellation a few days after her engagement with the French 54 gun ship, and proceeded with her to Jamaica, where he left her rigging up jury masts to enable her to come to the United States, not finding it practicable to repair her damages in that port. She gives no further information of the Frenchman.

The 20th was boarded off the Matanzies by the privateer brig Hero, from New Providence; and after 15 hours detention, and breaking open all my letters, permitted me to proceed.

March 1, 20 leagues E.S.E. from Cape Henry, was boarded by the British ship, of war Assistance, of 64 guns, in company with the Anne, 64, and Cleopatra frigate; was boarded by the former of these ships, and after an examination of my papers, &c. was permitted to proceed. They left Hampton Road the day before; March 4, 15 leagues S.E. from Cape Henry, spoke the pilot boat schooner Liberty, from Baltimore bound to Port Republican.

Captain Fairfield, late of the schr. Brothers, of Annapolis, whose capture by the Beauty was some time since announced, arrived in town yesterday from Norfolk, where he saw capt. Homes, arrived there in 14 days from the Havanna, who informed that on the day of his leaving that port, he was chased back under the Mora, by the above privateer, but venturing out on the succeeding day, passed the United States ship Gen. Warren, and the brig Norfolk, in chace of the Beauty, and so near to her that captain H. supposed that nothing but the approaching night could save her from capture.

New-London, March 12.

On Friday last the United States ship Trumbull, of eighteen 12 pounders, Capt. David Jewet, sailed from this port for New-York. She is a remarkable strong, well built, handsome ship; and there is no doubt from her first essay will prove a fast sailer. She is fully manned, and we understand is to convoy out some West Indiamen.

JUST RECEIVED, AND FOR SALE
By WILLIAM Y. BIRCH,
STATIONER,
No. 17 South Second Street,
HAMILTON'S ELIXIR,
A SOVEREIGN REMEDY

For Colds, obstinate Coughs, Catarrhs, Asthmas, Sore-throats, and approaching Consumptions.

THOUSANDS are too well acquainted with the nature and effects of empirical medicines daily offered for the cure of the above complaints; dear bought experience has taught them that oily and healing medicines joined with strong opiates (or sleepy drugs) repeated doses of which, flatter and deceive the patient for the present, by procuring momentary ease; experience, I say, has taught thousands that the common opiates and balsams, as they are called, finally aggravate every disorder of the breast and lungs in their most distressing symptoms; that they load the stomach and impair the digestion, inflame the whole system, increase the difficulty of breathing, and excite fever.—But the qualities of this valuable discovery are evinced by perfectly opposite effects. A SINGLE TRIAL WILL PROVE that it restores the determination of the fluids to the surface of the body, and brings on the common, healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough, viscid phlegm, or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humours which irritate the lungs, and finally discharges them. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course, effectually and permanently conquered, the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present, some of its painful effects.

TO PARENTS
Who may have Children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable; the Elixir is so perfectly agreeable and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

DR. HAMILTON'S
Genuine Essence and Extract of MUSTARD.

For Rheumatisms, Gout, Palsey, Sprains, &c. a great number of attested cures may be seen at the place of sale Dr. Hamilton's Grand Restorative for constitutions debilitated by intemperance of any kind; and for the cure of Nervous Complaints, Inward Weakness, Obstinate Gleets, Fluor Albus in women, &c.

Hamilton's justly celebrated Worm Lozenges, the infallible Itch Ointment, Dr. Leroux's Indian Vegetable Specific for Venereal Complaints, Ague and Fever Drops which had never failed effecting a cure, Dr. Hahn's Antibilious Pill, ditto Corn Plaister, the Persian Lotion for the face and skin, Gowland's Lotion, Church's Cough Drops, Anderson's Pills

THE DAMASK LIP SALVE

Is recommended (particularly to the Ladies) as an elegant and pleasant preparation for chopped and sore lips, and every blemish and inconvenience occasioned by colds, fevers, &c. speedily restoring a beautiful rosy colour and delicate softness to the lips.

THE RESTORATIVE POWDER
FOR THE TEETH AND GUMS.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, absorbing all that acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

☞ Those who wish to procure the medicines genuine, must apply ONLY as above.

Wholesale purchasers will receive a liberal allowance by application to LEE & Co. Baltimore, who have obtained the general agency for the United States.
